LIMA, Peru, Aug. 24—Peru extended today to Brazil the right of non-belligerency in the war with Germany and Italy.

By The Associated Press
RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 24—The government moved to put Brazil on a full war footing today, tightening its control over German and Italian nationals and taking special precautions against possible token attack by Axis submarines known to be lurking off the country's long coastline.

Many demonstrations which accompanied Brazil's entry into the war Saturday died down yesterday, but the navy and air force stepped up their "off-shore" patrol, especially in the region of the Natal "bulge," which is only 150 miles from Dakar, Africa.

At least four enemy submarines were reported sighted off the coast yesterday, and there was widespread speculation that they might attempt to shell some point in Sergipe state, south of Natal, the government demonstrated its awareness of this possibility by ordering a naval harbor patrol in the city of Aracaju. Partial blackouts were enforced elsewhere.

Harbor Guarded
In Rio de Janeiro, the bright beams of searchlights swept over the beautiful harbor during the night to expose possible intruders.

A desire for closest cooperation with the United States in military and economic matters was evident in official quarters.

It was expected that some light would be cast on these plans after the first meeting of the war cabinet, which will meet weekly during the duration under President Getulio Vargas. The air force has been strengthened by the addition of many modern planes built in the United States.

Federal authorities, meanwhile, issued a roundup of persons suspected of having associations with Axis agents and intensified a wide search for secret radio transmitters which might be used for communicating with enemy submarines.

Brazil's submarine - provoked by action of war on Germany - Italy Saturday cleared the sea for further action against Axis forces in the South Atlantic and Caribbean, opened a new task program for guarding the northeastern bulge of South America and focused attention on the Vichy-French base.

NELSON WILL KEEP WATCH ON MATERIALS

WPB Head To Withdraw Army, Navy Authority.

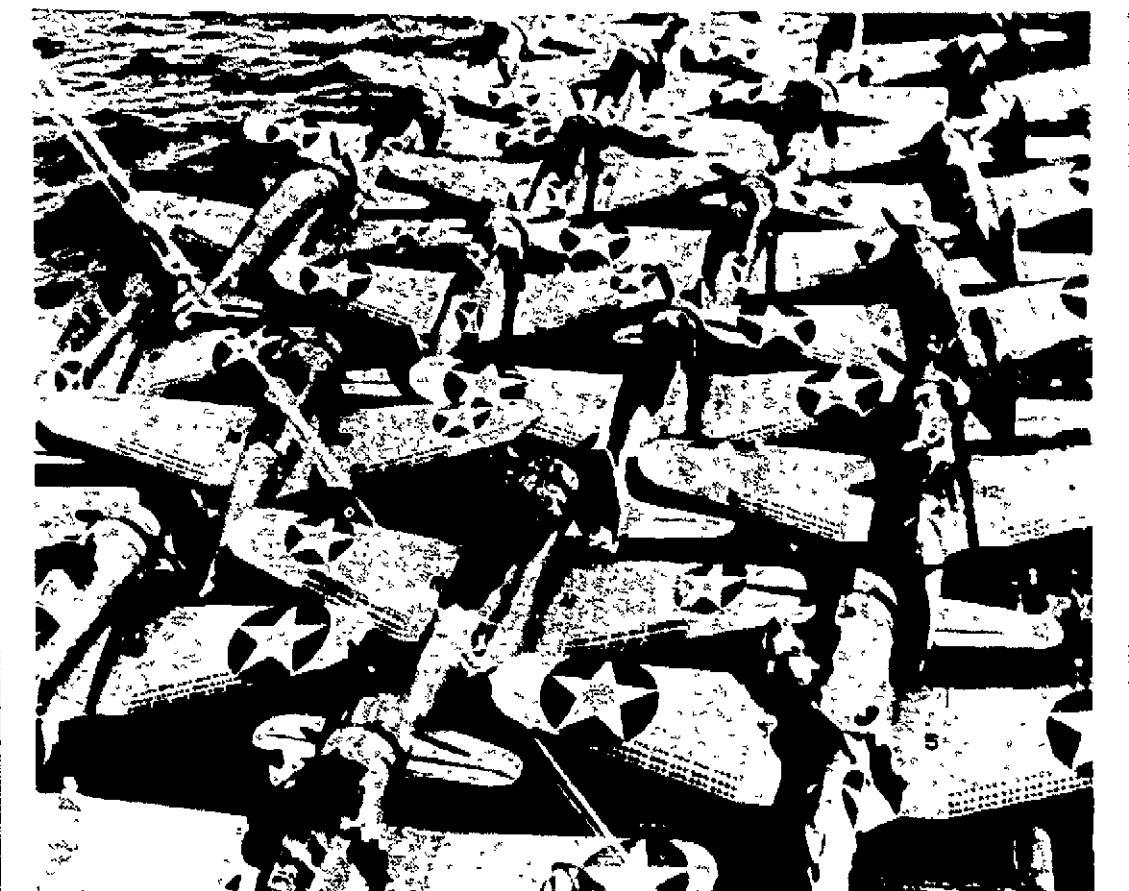

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—Pro-Chief Donald M. Nelson will withdraw some of his authority he has delegated to the War Relocation Authority, it was reported today.

Nelson, assigned to give Nelson personal supervision of the flow of war materials, is closely with his disapproval of the semi-independent scheduling of production schedules integrated by the war board to reconcile the war with our resources.

Nelson said a check of the war board's policy would be made. He said that Nelson would check such field reports through WPB's review.

STATE CHURCH MEETING ENDS

Marion Conference Closes with Assignments of Pastors for Ohio.

Three Marion pastors, Rev. P. E. Smoke of Calvary, Rev. J. R. Dallas, O. Kland, and Rev. O. D. Myers of Salem rural church, were returned to their parishes, and Rev. E. L. Fox, pastor of Gr.ewood church was assigned to the pastorate of the Warren church, at the closing session of the 105th annual session of the Ohio Conference of the Evangelical church, Sunday afternoon at Calvary Evangelical church. Rev. Fox will be succeeded here by Rev. R. L. Sutherland, former pastor of the Warren church.

Returned also were Rev. L. E. Dietzel of Bucyrus, Rev. W. E. Smith of Johnsonville, Rev. D. F. Brose of Upper Sandusky, Rev. Charles Holzwarth of Upper Sandusky, Rev. E. L. Lee of Carey and Rev. S. S. Davis of Ashland.

The church was nearly filled for the day's services.

The 1943 conference will be held Aug. 18 to 22 in Calvary Evangelical church in Cleveland of which Rev. Victor Peterson is pastor.

Ends 5-Day Meeting
Assignment of pastors, which brought the five-day session to a close, ordination services and an anniversary service of the Ohio Conference Missionary society made up the program yesterday.

The ordination sermon, "Paul's Appraisal of the Christian Ministry," was delivered by Bishop George E. Epp of Naperville, Ill., who also presided for the ordination service.

Assisting Bishop Epp in the ordination services were district superintendents, Rev. C. L. Allen of Fremont, western district, Dr. D. L. Caldwell of Canton, eastern district, and Rev. E. E. Nietz of Columbus, southern district, together with relatives and friends of those receiving recognition.

The officiating ministers were: Rev. E. L. Adams, of Columbus; Rev. H. H. Maxwell, a friend; Rev. Ralph Carma of Youngstown; Rev. G. C. Strohl, a friend; Rev. Albert Mathias of Polk; Rev. C. W. Ruhlman, his father-in-law; Rev. R. E. Sain of Independence, his father; Rev. R. A. Sain, and his brother-in-law, Rev. C. D. Osborn.

Church Gains Shown
Reports showed an increase of more than 200 in the church membership which now stands at 22,930 in the Ohio conference.

Organized congregations number 144 and conversions reported were 1,224. Vacation Bible school enrollment totaled 1,312, week-day Bible school enrollment was 496, and enrollment in the leader-

Marion Woman's Favorite Skillet Sold by Accident

There was fried chicken at the R. W. Brown home at 704 East Church street, Sunday, but the family didn't relish it with the usual gusto. Not that it wasn't good, nor cooked to the Brown's taste, — it was all of that — but it just hadn't been cooked in the aluminum skillet that has done duty in the Brown family for years.

And the reason was — the Brown's skillet is gone — sold for rummage.

When the Brown family went on vacation in Michigan recently the skillet was taken along for when it comes to the best all-round skillet, well, there's only one in the family.

In the rush of packing for the return trip home the skillet was overlooked, and later was brought to Findlay by Rev. and Mrs. Carl V. Koop, who also were on the camping trip.

Harold Underwood, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Koop brought the skillet to Marion, gave it to Mrs. Brown who put it in the rear of her car.

When a group of women of the United Brethren church were preparing to hold a rummage sale Saturday it was Mrs. Brown's duty to collect some of the articles. In the process of unloading all the contents of the car were removed including the skillet.

And some energetic saleswoman sold it for two bits.

Mrs. Brown didn't remember her skillet until she went to fry the Sunday chicken yesterday morning. Tears — well, what do you think?

JOHNNY RIFE WINS MAR-O-DEL TOURNAMENT

Scores 3 and 1 Victory Over Bob Graham.

(More about Rife on today's sport page.)

Johnny Rife, perennial Marion county golf champion and Mar-O-Del golfer, annexed his first 1942 crown Sunday when he swept to his second straight Mar-O-Del club championship by defeating Bob Graham, 3 and 1, over 36 holes of match play.

The three-time winner of the county golf championship hung up his second straight Mar-O-Del triumph and his third in five seasons. He has posted a Saturday afternoon victory over Sam Sharrock, 7 and 6, to qualify for the finals. Graham advanced to the title round by defeating Newell, 3 and 2.

In the championship quest Rife started slow but stepped up the tempo of his habitual par-cracking performances as the match

AMATEUR DAY YIELDS $2,000

Profits Go for Park Improvement; Miss Gaspark Wins Queen Contest.

Marion's first annual Amateur Day program, instituted to aid in rededication of Marion's park system to recreation for both young and old, netted approximately $2,000. Amateur Day committee officials estimated today.

Chief source of income was the Amateur Day queen election won by Miss Margaret Gaspark, 21-year-old Newton Falls girl employed in the expediting department of the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., general contractors for the construction of the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

Miss Gaspark's election was by a large majority. Of 72,749 votes cast for eight girls, six of them representing different divisions of the Scioto Ordnance Plant work, Miss Gaspark received 30,254.

Jane Bailey, the candidate sponsored by the Holabird & Root firm of architects, finished second in the final balloting with 14,521 votes. Joan Snyder, the Huber Manufacturing Co.'s candidate, ended third with 8,540 votes.

Phyllis Hecker of the Marion-Reserve Power Co., was fourth with 7,657 and Marion Huddleston of the War Department was fifth with 3,619.

Three girls who earlier last week announced their withdrawal from the contest received a total of 7,955 votes.

Makes Strong Finish
Miss Gaspark commanded a lead of only a few hundred votes at noon Saturday, but afternoon and evening returns boosted her final margin to more than 15,000 votes.

The new queen was graduated in 1933 from Newton Falls High school and attended the Warren Business college for one year. She is the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Gaspark of Newton Falls.

She has been associated with the Hunkin-Conkey firm for a year and a half, having worked for nearly a year in the firm's expediting offices at the Ravenna Ordnance Plant before coming to Marion.

When crowned Miss Amateur Day in ceremonies at the park yesterday, the five-foot, 17-inch beauty expressed her appreciation for the full support of Hunkin-Conkey employees and added that she was glad to have a part in accomplishing a worthwhile purpose.

Miss Mescke In Charge
Miss Marilyn Mescke, Marion dancing teacher who rose to the title of Miss America in the 1928 national beauty pageant at Atlantic City, N. J., officiated for the crowning.

The queen and her court, composed of Misses Bailey, Snyder, Hecker and Huddleston, were taken to the park promptly at 4 p. m. yesterday on the city fire department's new triple pump truck. When the truck arrived in the park the siren was sounded several times.

Herman Guffey of Ravenna, an employee of the Atlas Powder Co., was Miss Gaspark's escort.

While clouded skies and general threatening weather slashed the expected attendance to a fraction, Amateur Day officials, particularly Marion Hinkin, temporary county defense recreation director, and George Baum, general Amateur Day chairman, termed

NAZIS THRUST NEARER CITY OF STALINGRAD

Russians Battle To Halt Advance 40 Miles from Metropolis.

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, Aug. 24—The Russians battled resolutely today in the narrow, flat corridor between the Don and Volga to halt German forces which finally had consolidated a river crossing and struck out for Stalingrad, probably only 40 miles away.

Another thrust at the great industrial city moved slowly ahead at terrific cost on the Kolkensk sector southwest of Stalingrad along a railway leading from the Black sea.

The midday communiqué reported a violent struggle south-east of Kletskaya where the Germans had reached the east bank of the Don. Tanks which ferried the Plavsk river constituted the greatest threat to Stalingrad.

40 Miles from Stalingrad
The exact location of the tank crossing was not disclosed, but the Germans have been attacking most heavily 40 miles from Stalingrad and the Volga.

Russian forces remained on the west side of the river, despite the enemy breach and near Kletskaya itself were counter-attacking to relieve pressure.

The lines on the outer defense of Stalingrad appeared to be highly mobile with both armies maneuvering swiftly for position.

A Soviet tank detachment was sent against the flank of the German force northeast of Kolkensk and seven of the German machines were destroyed and 200 Germans killed, the midday communiqué said.

The struggle for Stalingrad appeared to be nearing the supreme test, Russian reports indicated, as a new crossing of the Don was forced southeast of Kletskaya by the Germans. The Russians were fighting stubbornly to push their Germanians into the river and destroy the bridgehead.

Kills Raid Nazis
In another sector of the Kletskaya zone, Russian troops broke into an enemy position during the night and, with bayonets and hand grenades, killed more than 100 Germans and destroyed a radio station and other equipment, the communiqué said.

In the Caucasian foothills too the picture darkened today, the Russians reporting that the Red army had withdrawn to a new position southwest of Pyatigorsk, only 140 miles from the Grzny oil wells.

A tank group, which the Germans ferried across the Don at the time of their crossing, was regarded as a serious threat to Stalingrad.

The tanks were taken across under cover provided by the German air force. Four bridgeheads established previously by the Germans had been destroyed by Russian artillery and the Red air force.

The Don itself is less than 500 yards wide in the bend and the slow-running water would constitute only a minor barrier to the Germans in bringing up reinforcements if the Red army defenses on the east side of the river were broken.

BRITISH, NAZI GUNS FIRE OVER STRAIT

Fight Over Convoy Also Reported from Dover.

By The Associated Press
British and German long-range guns exchanged fire across the Strait of Dover in the half-light of dawn today, and out in the strait the firing of machine-guns could be heard, indicating that a convoy of one side or the other was slipping through the channel under attack. Most, however, prevented observation from the Dover cliffs.

During the night scattered German planes caused some damage and casualties in a hit-run attack on East Anglia and the Midlands. Three of the raiders were reported destroyed.

The Germans said their targets were Derby, Ipswich and Great Yarmouth.

The night operations followed daylight raids Sunday in which two of the RAF's big Wellington bombers broke through the clouds over Emden and bombed the dock area of the German naval base.

In Egypt, other heavy British bombers battered the Axis supply base at Tobruk at dusk last night, following up raids which American airmen were said to have made by moonlight the night before on the desert workshops supplying Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces.

Total Defense Mobilization Scheduled Here This Week

All Marion Civilian Units To Be Summoned Without Warning in Test Call.

Marion's civilian defense organization will be tested in a general mobilization to be staged without advance warning sometime this week, Civilian Defense Coordinator William R. Martin announced today.

Staff members will be mobilized by telephone going through the operations they will carry on in the event of future blackouts and air raids, simulated by test calls of the various civilian defense units have been warned in a general letter from Coordinator Martin that the test will be made.

No additional announcement of the mobilization will be made and staff members will have no other notice until they are informed by telephone that the test is under way. The test will not be staged tonight, however, and the unit chiefs and their subordinates know only that they may expect it anytime between Monday midnight and the end of the week.

Plan of Operations
First step in the mobilization will be telephone summons to the six divisional chiefs: Earl Ruhlman, air raid warden; Dr. H. K. Mousier, emergency medical service; D. J. MacDonald, auxiliary police; Capt. A. D. Boyd and Captain O. C. Stafford, auxiliary firemen; R. A. Todd, repair crew; L. J. Teitelbaum, utility units.

The chiefs will relay orders to their immediate subordinates and then report for duty at the central control room established at the North State street school. The subordinates will take over the task of summoning staff members to their posts, a definite division of chiefs will direct the practice from the central headquarters.

In Constant Contact
Each of the chiefs, upon arrival at headquarters will be in touch with their subordinates constantly. Telephone lines will be kept open so that the chiefs may relay orders to their field representatives. Staff members will be able to call the central headquarters by dialing any of three numbers, 2129, 2128, or 2103, to report incidents which require attention.

Incoming telephone reports, which will be handled by Mrs. Frances Norris, will be scanned by Coordinator Martin and directed to the appropriate divisional chief for such action as may be necessary. The method of operation permits the chiefs at the central headquarters to direct the rapid placement of staff members at scenes of emergency.

No Blackout
This week's mobilization will not include a test blackout, although it is likely that such a test may be tried here in the near future. Coordinator Martin reported. The practice mobilization, however, will follow the same procedure, after the initial

O'DANIEL HAS CLOSE CALL IN TEXAS, BUT BEATS FOE

Senator Picks Up Victory from Rural Areas.

By The Associated Press
DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 21—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel appeared to be assured of re-election today — by the slimmest margin of a whirlwind political career.

Former Gov. James V. Allred, who polled only 32 per cent of the votes in the three-man race in the first Democratic primary against O'Daniel's 48 per cent, made an amazing pickup in the runoff Saturday and for a time appeared to have given the 41-year-old ex-flour salesman his first political blow.

But as the late-reporting rural voters began trickling in, O'Daniel picked up and with most of the estimated 900,000 votes tabulated early today, he led Allred, who resigned a federal judgeship to make the campaign, 423,872 to 428,616.

The Texas election bureau said this margin was equivalent to assure O'Daniel's re-election, which in Texas is equivalent to election.

Hardin Co. Ensign Receives Citation

Special to The Star
KENTON, Aug. 24—Believed to be the first Hardin county serviceman to receive a citation in World War II, Ensign Frederick S. Pink, Jr., has been awarded a letter of commendation for distinguished service.

The 25-year-old Kenton man is credited with leading a merchant ship gun crew when fought off enemy airplanes at sea. Details of the engagement have not been released.

Pink, a graduate of Kenton High school, entered the service two years ago as a naval reserve officer and has been serving aboard a merchant ship.

ALLIED FLIERS REPULSE BIG AIR ARMADA

Pilots of P-40 Fighters Shoot Down One Out of 4 Enemy Craft Over Darwin.

By The Associated Press
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Aug. 24—Brilliant defense by Allied fliers in Curtiss P-40 fighters sent the Japanese home from a big raid on the Darwin airfield yesterday with little to show for their effort except the loss of four bombers and nine Zero fighters, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The defending aircraft today was the more remarkable because they intercepted the raiders at 25,000 feet, knocked down more than one out of every four of the 47 enemy planes and suffered no losses themselves although they probably were outnumbered.

The damage caused by the raiders was slight, the headquarters communiqué said.

Score On Offensive
Allied planes scored also on the offensive with an attack on buildings in the wharf area along Ruka passage, the narrow strait between Buka and Bougainville in the northern Solomon Islands. The communiqué said the results were unobserved.

Among the American defenders of Darwin yesterday were some veterans of fighting in the Philippines and Java, and their bag of 12 planes was believed to be a record for one day in this area.

The fliers carried out what General MacArthur's communiqué called "brilliant tactical interception."

The raiders approached Darwin from the west and the P-40s attacked them first while they still were over the sea. Three enemy bombers were caught in bursts of fire. They left their formations, jettisoned their bombs, and American pilots saw them turn for home only to crash into the sea.

Others Reach Target
The remainder of the Japanese flight came on in three groups. Although peppered by American machine-gun fire, directed at Zeros as well as bombers, the formation reached the general target area and unloaded 500-pound fragmentation bombs and incendiaries which kicked up smoke and dust but caused comparatively little damage.

One United States flier said he got so close to one Zero fighter that he could see the pilot's face under his red cap. Nip looked mighty worried as my bullets had set his wings afire. I saw him go down into the sea.

A Chicago lieutenant, who in the Japanese raid of July 30 destroyed an enemy bomber but was shot down himself, this time got a bomber and a Zero.

"I guess I kinda evened things up today," he remarked.

Another American who got his first bomber said:

"I lined up Nip in my sights when I was half a mile from him but held my fire until I got a lot closer. First I hit his left engine which burst into flames, and then bit and pieces flew all over the plane as my bullets continued to hit it."

There was no word from the Tulagi area, where United States landing forces were reported earlier to have smashed Japanese garrisons back into the mountains.

As the allied offensive in the Solomons kept the Japanese occupied far afield, China's stubborn fighting forces threatened to wrest from the invaders virtually the whole fruits of their summer campaign in Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces.

Already the Chinese have won back 110 miles of the vital Chungking-Kiangsi rail line.

ENGINEER UNIT ARRIVES HERE

Battalion at Quartermaster Depot for Railroad Construction Training.

Between 400 and 500 soldiers making up the Second Battalion of the 33rd Engineers Regiment arrived last night at the Marion Quartermaster Depot, near the south boundary of the Scioto Ordnance Plant.

Major Robert Lockridge, area engineer in charge of the construction of both ordnance plant and the depot, said the men are here to construct railroad line for training purposes. He said the length of the battalion's stay is not known.

The battalion is in command of Lt. Col. Werk.

The men detrained last night about 6:30 on the depot grounds. They spent the night in pup tents hurriedly set up in a field of wheat stubble near the east end of the grounds. Today they were erecting eight-man tents and other temporary facilities.

Nearly all the men enlisted, and are from various parts of the country and nearly all are especially qualified in various phases of engineer corps work. Many of them in private life were authorities in various phases of construction work and the operation of large equipment.

This outfit was activated in May of this year. Its work will be entirely on the depot grounds, and the training work to be done by the battalion will be paid out by the area engineer, Major Lockridge.

PHONOGRAPH RECORD TOTAL IS ANNOUNCED

Marion Legion Collection Reaches 4,100 Pounds.

Phonograph records collected in Marion and vicinity by Bird-McGinn Post No. 162, American Legion, weighed 4,100 pounds, it was announced today by R. A. Leach, chairman, and acting assistant of the post. The records will be sold in the interest of providing funds for the men in the armed forces both in this country and in foreign territory.

The post feels that records of Marion city and county rallied to the call and were generous in their contributions.

The records will be sold for the soldiers they will provide.

Although the campaign is ended there will be a "mop-up" drive later in the season when contributors who did not get in on the original collection may give the old records.

According to a report of Aug. 14 more than 25,000,000 of the 37,500,000 gram had been collected in the nation. The drive is being staged by the Records For Our Fighting Men, Inc. and the American Legion is acting as a collecting agency.

GREATEST U. S. CONVOY LANDS

Huge Group of Ships Carrying U. S. Men and Supplies Reaches Britain.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Aug. 24.—The arrival of still another American convoy—the greatest yet—within thousands of fighting-fit United States troops stirred British observers anew today to speculation on a second front.

The size of the convoy, so large that its laden troopships and transporters scattered to many British ports to unload men and weapons now dispersed among waiting American bases, accounted only partly for the predictions of second front possibilities.

British noted also the preparedness of the Americans for absorbing reinforcements, the frontlines of the men sent to this war theater, the material which accompanied them, the variety of branches they represented, the emphasis on air strength in both men and supplies and the psychological moment of their arrival.

Follow Churchill Tour
The announcement that the vast sea train had disgorged new fighting strength on British soil came while London papers were filled with comment analyzing Prime Minister Churchill's recent mission to Moscow and calling last week's battle of Dieppe only a portent of things to come.

Because of 24-hour-a-day work setting up huge bases in Britain, the Americans now are able to absorb ground forces at a greatly accelerated pace and the striking power of the air force, it was pointed out, can be doubled and redoubled quickly now that the months of preliminary preparation are behind it.

The eagerness of the new United States troops for action and their smart, well-drilled appearance at the debarkation ports accentuated the statement of Maj. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of U. S. ground troops in the European zone, that only "crack" outfits were being sent here.

New Army Set Up
At the same time, the British announced the formation of a new Iran-Iraq command under Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson in the allies' oil reservoir behind Russia's imperiled Caucasus.

Britons saw the creation of an independent command in that area under the former right-hand man of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as one fruit of Churchill's travels.

By this step, Britain divided the allied Middle and Near East into three separate commands, giving Wilson military authority in a region poorly linked because of bad roads and long sea lines either with India or North Africa, the other two command areas.

Chief Air Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, with headquarters in Egypt, will retain command of the RAF in all three zones, however.

STATE AFL CONVENTION IN COLUMBUS OPENS TODAY

Flight Looms Over Election Of New Secretary.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—The Ohio State Federation of Labor met today in its 53rd annual convention in an atmosphere made tense by a fight between a veteran of the organization and a Cleveland aspirant for the post of secretary-treasurer.

Phil Hannah, 38, member of the Cleveland local of the Gas Station and Garage Employees' union, set up headquarters to direct his campaign against Thomas J. Donnelly, treasurer of the federation since 1913.

Donnelly had no headquarters, but his supporters—including Federation President Michael J. Lyden of Youngstown—said he should win by a margin of 200 votes.

On the other hand, Hannah's backers said he would win two to one.

It was the sternest test to which the veteran Donnelly had been put in his 28 years in the $5,000-a-year job.

The battle against Donnelly stemmed from the contention that the white-haired man, now in his 70's, was too old to bear the burdens of his office.

A movement has been started to give Lyden full-time employment at the same salary as paid Donnelly and thus lift some of the work from the elder man's shoulders.

Some believed such a plan would quiet those now opposed to retaining Donnelly.

Marion Group Attends Federation Convention

Among those attending the convention from Marion are Don Whetor, president of the Marion Central Labor Union; T. J. Coleman of the truck drivers' local No. 6322 and secretary of the Central Labor Union; Joe Foley, representative of the laborers' local No. 574; and Lonnie Hollbrook, John Herrod, Orval Wade, Henry Patric and Ed Cunningham, all of the laborers' local No. 574.

AT LEAST 25 DEAD IN PLANE CRASHES

Death Toll Listed in Army and Navy Accidents.

By The Associated Press
At least 25 and possibly 26 officers and men were killed and three others injured yesterday in four separate airplane accidents reported by army and navy authorities.

The navy said 11 men were known to have been aboard a navy patrol plane that crashed last night in a field near Dahlgren, Va., and that there may have been a 12th victim.

Second biggest disaster was the crash of an army flying fortress bomber in the southern New Mexico mountains 20 miles north-west of Las Cruces in which seven were killed and two others injured in parachute landings.

Six airmen were killed and another critically injured when an army medium bomber crashed on a wooded hill seven miles southwest of Bozulus, La., exploded and burst into flames.

In the fourth accident, Second Lieut. Melvin E. Lacey, 21, of Sacramento, Calif., was killed when his army pursuit plane struck a tree on a take-off from a base near Tallahassee, Fla.

Names of the dead in the navy plane crash were not immediately announced, but the army made public the following death list for the accident in New Mexico.

Lieut. James E. Hudson, Indianapolis, Ind.; James Van George, California; Eugene E. Rochester, La Grande, Ore.; Leon Shane, Bethlehem, Pa.; Frank B. Johnson, White Plains, N. Y.; William R. Simmo, New Orleans, La.; and Sgt. Cato H. Myers, Houston, Texas.

In the crash of the medium bomber in Louisiana, the army named the following dead:

2nd Lieut. William L. Kelley, Lamoni, Iowa; 2d Lieut. Bernard H. Greed, Harlingen, Tex.; Private First Class Walter R. McGee, El Paso, Tex.; Private Edgar A. Stratton, whose wife lives in Baton Rouge, La., and whose sister, Elsie Stratton, lives at Globe, Ariz.; Private Charles T. Knepp, Shreveport, La.; and Sgt. J. C. Goodwin, Clarksville, Tex.

Injured:

2d Lieut. Richard H. Farnsworth, 23, New London, O.

13 More Ships Sunk by U-Boats in Week

By The Associated Press

Axis surface and underwater raiders in an apparent shift of operations to southern waters were disclosed last week to have sunk 13 more merchantmen to swell to 439 the announced wartime toll of allied and neutral victims in the western Atlantic area as tabulated by The Associated Press.

Six Brazilian vessels, four British, one American, one Panamanian and one Swedish were announced since Aug. 18 as having been destroyed in the Caribbean and off South America with a death toll of more than 610 troops, seamen and passengers. At least 550 persons were rescued, however.

Middle East Zone BALDINGER LIQUOR Likely To See New CASE HEARINGS OPEN Second Front Soon

By DEWITT MacKENZIE, Wide World War Analyst

Before long we should see a new and perhaps decisive front opened in the Egyptian-mideast theater, and it's the loss of a coin whether this will be initiated by the allies or by the Nazi dictator.

There's no doubt the allies are actively preparing for this possibility.

The first of these might start in the Middle East, but it's much more likely that they will be touched off in Egypt.

Of course, immediate establishment of a second front in western Europe might affect the trend in the Middle East. It's unlikely, though that Hitler's attempt to capture Egypt and the Middle East would be scrapped because the side which holds that strategically vital zone will probably win the war.

Hitler has perhaps two months of fine campaigning weather left. Should he in that time be able to fight his way to the border of the Middle East, he might well attempt to continue his drive.

But if the Russians are able to stop Hitler short of the southern Caucasus he must develop his middle Eastern campaign differently. He then will attempt to strike from Egypt and will be able to throw men and equipment into the operation from the winter-bound Russian front while he holds there with a greatly reduced force.

Hall is going to pool in Egypt before long, unless the signs are all wrong. When the fighting stopped neither side was strong enough to conduct an offensive. Since then, both sides have been waiting for reinforcements and the side which gets set first will be the one to strike.

We have no information as to how luck has treated the desert opponents. We aren't likely to know until one or the other launches a new offensive—and the one who strikes will be the one who has got his aid first.

the general program a huge success.

In the next few days, Hinklin said, final financial figures for the program will be announced. Shortly after this the committee will meet to begin organization of the Marion Amateur Day association, a group to insure perpetuation of the program.

Program Features

Following an impressive flag-raising ceremony conducted by Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, Mayor Russell C. Snare pitched the first ball in the softball games to Major John F. Sears, acting commanding officer of the Scioto Ordnance Plant. Lloyd W. Reese, federal security agency representative, was the batter. The first two pitches were wide, but Mayor Snare "grooved" the third. Mr. Reese lining out a clean single over third base.

The ball pitched by Mayor Snare was later autographed by Mayor Snare, Major Sears, Mr. Reese, Miss Amateur Day, Miss Meske and the queen's court of honor and was raffled off to Willis Myers of 669 1/2 West Center street for $9.

Four softball games, including a boys' game, ball-throwing and base running contests, drew a 1 a.m. lying on the front steps at the home of Mrs. E. Stewart where she was visiting, a police report said. Mrs. Van Meter came to Columbus to visit a relative at University hospital and planned to stay with Mrs. Stewart, the latter reported. Now Mrs. Van Meter is in that hospital.

Brazil's move left other American nations watching closely for the Argentine government to clarify its position. Argentina and Chile are the only American republics retaining relations with the axis and Chile broke silence last week with a vigorous protest to Berlin against the sinking of Brazilian ships. Sections of the Chilean press urged a clean break with the axis.

Uruguay, joint neighbor of Brazil and Argentina, took the lead by declaring her ports open to Brazilian ships, and some observers expressed the belief that she might follow Brazil into war.

NEWS FROM OUR BOYS</

Poll Indicates Majority of Public Favors Income Tax Levy on Every Family

By GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PETON, N. J., Aug. 24—Public willingness to accept the tax imposed by the war goes far beyond the conception of a government official.

A majority of people throughout the United States interviewed in a cross-section survey by the Institute believe every family should pay an income tax to the federal government in ratio to ability to pay.

and this is the significance of the poll.

More than six out of ten persons in the lower income group, most of whom have come from the income bracket of $5 a week, are willing to pay at least $100 a year in taxes as a means of financing the war.

Case of many families would obviously be made only $5 a year less, a universal income tax would mean that approximately 31,000,000 families would be able to pay instead of an average of 11,000,000 or 12,000,000 to pay this year.

For persons are easier to pay taxes, the willingness of the majority to make such greater sacrifices to help meet the cost of the war is another example of the capacity which the public has repeatedly demonstrated for being ahead of its leaders. In every important aspect of the war to date the public has been ahead of the government either in favoring measures that were later carried out, or in their readiness to make greater sacrifices than have yet been imposed.

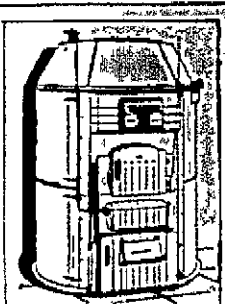

The public's recognition that everyone should pay more taxes has shown a sharp upward trend during the last year and a half. In December, 1940, a year before Pearl Harbor, the idea of an income tax for everybody was approved by a bare majority in an Institute survey. Today that majority has grown to overwhelming proportions, as indicated in a survey on the identical proposal.

	Favor	Opposed	Undecided
Favor income tax for all families	51%	41%	8%
Not on relief	51%	41%	8%
Opposed	41%	51%	8%
Undecided	8%	8%	84%

In Senate committee hearings on the tax bill last week, Walter Cooper of the American Institute of Accountants advocated the elimination of all personal exemptions in order "to directly impose some small measure of responsibility on every person in the United States." It is clear from the survey that an increasing number of Americans endorse

WILDERNESS GIRL

By LETA ZOE ADAMS

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Tyra Relents—A Little

WHILE they worked the sun sank and the swift tropical darkness came on.

At least we can have a hot meal tonight, Gil remarked.

"I'm going to see if I can spear some fish," Sandy said. He found a hole and a line and started up the river toward a pool, but he had not gone far when one of Tyra's Indians came bounding after him.

"Senorita Tyra says there is plenty of fish for all. We caught them today."

Reflecting that the evidence of hospitality was somewhat encouraging, Sandy retraced his steps.

A fire was going in the place where Tyra had pitched her camp. Tyra was turning fish on a skewer. The aroma was tantalizing to a hungry man who had been paddling up a river all day with nothing more than cold tortillas for lunch.

"This is a pleasant surprise," he told her at once. "Fresh fish that you don't have to catch yourself. How about giving you a hand with the skewers?"

"They are almost ready," she said. "Over in your camp Mrs. Brotherton is fixing something to go with them."

Sandy waited until she handed him three delicately barbecued fish on three broad leaves. Then he came more thanks, he joined Helen and Gil.

Helen had boiled rice in the expedition's one pot. "When we're settled I'll find flavorings," she promised in a housewife's tone. "But I can't do much now."

After the meal Sandy rolled over to Tyra's camp. The fire had died to embers and she sat gazing into it moodily.

"I suppose we start early in the morning," Sandy said, stepping close to the fire.

"Yes."

"At dawn?"

"As soon as we can organize the packs."

Sandy lingered a moment thinking perhaps she would show an inclination to talk further. When she didn't, he turned back to his own camp.

Helen was waiting for him alone. Her eyes went swiftly over his face. She said jerkily: "There's something wrong about that girl. When I think of trusting all our lives to her I have cold chills."

"Your woman's intuition," Sandy observed drily. "Tyra Fleming is all right. She's different because she has lived with Indians so much."

Helen stirred a little. "You like her, don't you, Sandy?"

"She is an extremely interesting girl," Sandy said shortly. "Well, goodnight, Helen. Dawn comes early and we're going to have a hard day."

But Helen did not retire at once. She sat staring across the dark space to the other campfire, and when she did crawl into her tent she did not sleep for a long time, but lay gazing up at the canopy above her head and hearing Sandy's voice, saying—"She is an extremely interesting girl."

At last Helen doubled her hands into fists and beat impatiently at the sleeping bag.

"You can't have him! You can't!" she sobbed out.

Part of Her Secret

The disposal of the provisions and equipment, they were forced to leave behind prevented Sandy and Gil with many problems the next morning.

At last Sandy and Gil devised a plan they believed would insure preservation of their foodstuffs. Gil built a palm-branch shelter with a central raft. While he was occupied with that work, Sandy fitted the extra provisions into knapsacks. He had suspended the kettle chains in the smoke of the fire and when they were roasted with crocodile he was ready to hang the packs from Gil's rafters. The extra tools clothing and other articles were wrapped in canvas and placed in the shelter also.

While Sandy was working near the fire, Tyra sauntered over. She watched a moment, not speaking.

Sandy looked up at her and grinned. "I'm not entirely satisfied with these arrangements, but with no more time, it is the best we can do."

"Your stores might last quite awhile," she said.

"I hope they last until we can come back for them. By the way, Miss Fleming, I'd give something to know how you persuaded two natives to come with you into this country. I couldn't do it."

He thought a flicker of a smile crossed her features, but she said

IN THE AIR FORCE they say—

'DODO' for the new flying recruit
'KITE' for airplane
'HIT THE SILK' for taking to parachute
'CAMEL' for their favorite cigarette

Marion Couple To Be Married Next Month Honored

MR. AND MRS. Roy N. Lovett of near LePue entertained with a dinner Saturday evening at Burger's Inn for the pleasure of Miss Zenselle Morn and her fiancé, Robert Messinger, whose wedding will take place Sunday, Sept. 20, at Wesley Methodist church. Miss Morn was complimented with a crystal shower.

The table centerpiece was delicate and beautiful in a low crystal bowl, and a miniature bride and groom marked the places of the honor guests. Other guests found their places marked with miniature brides and favors of miniature vases in pastel shades. Miss Morn received a corsage from the host and hostess.

A miniature bridal party in shades of pink, blue and yellow arranged on the table in the dining room directed Miss Morn to her shower gifts hidden throughout the rooms. During the evening Louis Marsh, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lovett, sang a group of numbers. Games were played and the evening was spent socially.

Miss Ruth Dreyer, a guest, who will leave soon to take up the study of public school music at Capital university, was presented a gift, and Miss Phyllis Garver presented a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Marsh from the group.

Present with the honor guests and host and hostess were Mrs. Homer Moeck, Mr. and Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Fred Haas, Mrs. Paul Garver, Mrs. W. P. Willauer, Mrs. Carl Ebert, Mrs. Frances Haas, Miss Phyllis Garver, Miss Janice Ebert, Miss Rhea Jean Willauer and Miss Edna Dutton of Marion, Mrs. Pearl Robinson of Cleveland, Mrs. Raymond Dreyer and Miss Ruth Dreyer of Green Camp and Mrs. Roman Von Deppau of LaRue.

OHIO BRIDE WIDOWED IN FLYING Fortress BATTLE

Painesville Man Reported Killed Over North Sea.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—Widowed by a Nazi warplane shell, pride shone through the tears of Lieut. Don Walter's 19-year-old bride today.

The former Helen Catebaugh learned last night that her aviator-husband kept a rendezvous with death high above the North Sea Friday in a fierce aerial battle.

He was co-pilot of a United States flying fortress that landed safely in England after being crippled in high-altitude combat. Lieut. Walter, son of Dr. E. J. Walter, a bombardier who "washed out" of flying school, guided Walter's wounded plane back to his home base. A 20 mm. shell killed the Ohioan.

Only last Thursday Mrs. Walter and friends celebrated the 22-year-old flier's participation in a raid on Rouen, France.

"When I heard one of the fliers, 'I knew it was Don,'" she said.

The couple married last March after having met at Ohio State university.

This Confidence Was Earned . . .

In the five years since our own Funeral Home was opened, a steadily increasing number of families has been turning to this organization for funeral service.

This confidence was earned. It began during our 15 years of serving Marion families in an other organization. It has rapidly increased since we could give the kind of service we knew people preferred in our own Funeral Home.

Those who have had no occasion to select a funeral director in Marion would do well to investigate.

1,500 Attend Annual Hardin Co. Farm Picnic

KENTON, Aug. 24.—Ralph Daniels, president of the Hardin county Farm Bureau, acted as master of ceremonies when some 1,500 men, women and children attended the organization's annual picnic at the community park.

Marion branch of west of Kenton drove a span of horses to the team pulling first prize of $20 by dragging twice their own weight a distance of six feet. Jerry Neiditz of Tiffin won second place; Gail Moore and Floyd Woods of Ada, third, Charles Pifer of Green Springs, fourth; Lester Klingner of Ada, fifth; Dean Moore and H. Henry of Ada, sixth; J. E. Nichols of Ashley, seventh; and Russell Oatfield of Tiffin, eighth. Four other teams competed.

THREE INJURED IN TRUCK-AUTO CRASH

Accident Occurs on Route 4 Near Country Club.

Three Marion residents suffered minor injuries in a truck-and-car sideswipe collision Saturday night about 10:30 on state route 4, south of Marion Country club, highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station reported.

Charles Meloy, 65, of 824 North Main street, the most seriously injured, was taken to City hospital in the L. A. Axe ambulance. He suffered scalp and nose lacerations. He was a passenger in a truck driven by Ben Solomon, 54, of 371 Silver street.

Solomon's northbound truck and a passenger car operated by Richard Thomas, 26, of 738 Gill avenue, figured in the accident. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Hattie E. Thomas, 47, of 578 Thompson street, and her niece, eight-year-old Margaret Herrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Herrington of 567 Thompson street, also were injured. Mrs. Thomas suffered facial lacerations and her niece suffered a sprained back.

A truck driven by Everett Shultz, 20, of Bladensburg over-turned on route 95 a mile east of Mt. Gilead about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The vehicle skidded on the wet pavement and overturned on the highway.

An automobile driven by John Pershing Bird, 24, of Waldo struck the rear of a car operated by Margaret Brown, 37, of Russell's Point in an accident at the junction of routes 4 and 37 near Pharisburg about 10:30 Saturday night.

"Let's Keep The Flag Flying"

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

"WE CAN, WE WILL, WE MUST"

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

- To millions throughout the world, Old Glory is the Symbol of Liberty . . . the Emblem of Mankind's Fight for Freedom.
- Born during the nation's infancy, its stars have increased in number as the country has grown in size; the domain over which it waves expanding until the sun on its flying folds now never sets.
- Filled with significance are its colors of red, white and blue . . . into which have been woven the strength and courage of American manhood, the love and loyalty of American womanhood
- It represents the Declaration of Independence. It reflects the wealth and grandeur of this great land of opportunity. It stands for Tolerance . . . Equality . . . Freedom.
- Our supreme duty . . . our sacred trust . . . our individual responsibility . . . is to KEEP IT FLYING.
- We are all Defenders of the Flag . . . WE, the UNarmed Forces of America!
- We've learned that wars cannot be won by wishful thinking.

- We've learned that Courage, by itself, is a thin and fragile weapon against the Axis' planes and tanks.
- We've learned the tragedy of loss, for want of a few extra bombers . . . in the right place . . . at the right time.
- We've learned that we must work as many hours making guns as our boys will work using them.
- We've learned that Victory requires an All-Out Job on everybody's part . . . to produce the planes, the tanks, the bullets, the ships, the guns.
- And that means money . . . your money . . . at least a dime from every dollar . . . every payday . . . and as much extra in between as you can spare . . . for War Savings Bonds and Stamps.
- Let's pledge ourselves that we shall keep aloft our Flag . . . the badge of America's greatness and the emblem of its destiny.
- Let's keep Old Glory flying!

Charles W. Kramer

THE 28 years during which Charles W. Kramer was actively identified with publication of The Marion Star included one of this newspaper's most important periods of development. In that time it advanced from classification as a rather obscure "country" daily with limited news and mechanical facilities to one equipped for complete reporting of worldwide happenings as well as those at home, and with a rating high among the nation's small city newspapers.

He became an employee of The Star in 1894, just 10 years after Mr. Harding began his career as publisher, and this association continued not only as one of employer and employee, but also on the basis of close friendship.

Then after the Harding ownership ended, Mr. Kramer remained to fill important posts with the new owners, Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., and this he did with the same efficiency and fidelity which had characterized his service through the preceding years.

All who worked with Mr. Kramer during his long employment with The Star have pleasant memories of that association. They will always remember him for his sincere friendliness and his invariable readiness to be helpful and cooperative in furthering the mutual aim of employers and employees to maintain The Star on the highest possible standards and to have it provide a maximum of service to the public.

Dominant in the Skies

MILITARY experts, those of the enemy as well as our own, are almost unanimously of the opinion that air power is the key to victory in modern war and the air forces of the United Nations are now dominant in most theaters of war except Russia.

Last week's daylight raids over occupied France in which 500 American and English planes, bombed and strafed almost without opposition and without the loss of a single plane shows how completely the allied air forces rule the skies over western Europe. In the engagement of the Solomon Islands, Americans for the first time had air strength superior to the Japanese. Dispatches say that Britain, supplemented by American planes and fliers, holds a considerable margin over the Axis in Egypt and over Malta. American fliers are increasingly active in China although their number is still far below that massed by the enemy.

Germany and her vassals probably have been losing planes in combat faster than they can build replacements. Certainly the output of United Nations plane factories is far ahead of the productive resources of the rich and still growing week by week.

This is the phase of the war most heartening to any who may be weak in spirit or troubled in mind as to the eventual outcome of the struggle. The daily story of devastating sweeps over Hitler's production cities and his own feeble reprisals over unprotected English towns without military significance gives a much more accurate view of the trend of the war than the communiques from the land fronts where his armies are meeting with costly success.

When Winter Comes

AMERICANS have been notoriously and disgracefully wasteful of natural resources from the days when the pioneer fathers laid waste the virgin timber and all but annihilated the game which furnished them food for the taking.

Three centuries have not taught them the lesson of conservation. This is why it becomes necessary to urge again the need for frugal use of the nation's resources during the war.

Some parts of the country have had saving forced upon them through rationing and other curtailment by law probably lies in the future.

In this part of the country the people are favored. Abundant coal is close at hand, gasoline for all its needs is brought here by pipeline and natural gas is sufficient to meet all normal requirements.

The situation, however, is not normal. War industry is demanding more and more of these supplies and must have them. If there is not enough to go around civilian users must adjust themselves to absorb any shortage.

There is enough coal if home owners will put it in their cellars now. There will be enough gas, we are promised, if domestic users will draw upon it economically, preparing their furnaces and their homes so that the heat will be conserved and used with the utmost efficiency.

Now is the time to get ready for next winter. If extremely cold weather comes it may bring demands on all fuel which cannot be met in a hurry. The home which is assured of comfort next year is the one which has had foresight to prepare in advance. All of them, however, will be better off than the homes in Nazi dominated Europe where one small fire must furnish both heating and cooking facilities for the entire household.

NEVER AT LOSS FOR A THUMB

Nearly 100 tons of mail from the United States arrived in one city of North Ireland on a recent week-end. It was probably from girls back home telling Johnny Doughboy to stay away from those Irish girls—Cincinnati Enquirer.

News Behind the News

More Than Some of $1 a Year Men Expected To Go If Nelson Cleans House.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—CIO members of the war production board labor advisory committee have publicly called on Mr. Nelson to fire his dollar-a-year men from the business world in his housecleaning. They said these business men had not performed efficiently their jobs of handling raw materials.

If this CIO-recommended basis for the housecleaning is adopted, Mr. Nelson will also have to fire the men who made it, the whole labor advisory committee, AFL as well as CIO. They have not performed their jobs efficiently either.

The latest report from the bureau of labor statistics, a strictly New Deal, pro-labor branch of Miss Perkins' labor department, says there were 350 strikes in June and 275 in May, the months when our war production was supposed to hit its stride.

These 350 strikes in June compare unfavorably with an average of 290 strikes in that month during the peacetime period of 1935-39. In short, there were 60 more strikes this war-time June than the average June before the European war broke out.

Other war labor board figures show 198 new defense industry strikes in July, compared with 171 in June, although fewer men were involved in July.

Thus it may be seen that the labor boys, who are telling their boss, Mr. Nelson (he is their boss in name at least), to fire business men for failure, have similarly failed to keep labor's contribution to the war effort at the required efficiency.

Truman Report

The labor boys probably heard the inside news going around town that the Truman committee has been preparing a report calling on Mr. Nelson to fire incompetents, particularly his dollar-a-year men—and that Mr. Nelson will not be angry when this report comes out. It will put a little more iron in his fist for getting tough, as he promised.

But you can see from the CIO recommendations, and from the established aversion of the Truman committee for dollar-a-year men, how the pressure for a particular kind of housecleaning, and not a general housecleaning on a basis of efficiency, is snapping up.

As pointed out yesterday, there are four classes of officials there, real business men, business hangers-on or marginal business men who have made a career of the New Deal, left-wing reformers who early saw the WPA as the proper agency in which to infiltrate so they could produce their social doctrines at the same time as war materials, and the real, earnest government economists and officials who think winning the war is the only social problem now.

If firings are going to be made on the basis of efficiency in groups, Mr. Nelson will rid himself, not only of the incompetent dollar-a-year men, but the incompetent reform elements as well.

Names are not necessary. He knows them. They include not only the labor leaders, who have failed to prevent strikes, but the professional theorists, who have identified themselves with particular radical social doctrines of an extreme nature.

Men are not efficient by groups, however. Efficiency generally is an individual matter. It is not true to say all dollar-a-year men are incompetent, all reformers or labor leaders efficient.

Efficiency as the CIO has said, should be the only criterion applied by Mr. Nelson or the Truman committee, but it must be applied impartially, without regard for group pressure.

Nelson's Future

Mr. Nelson seems to have fairly well worked himself out of the initial move here to make him personally the only one responsible for disappointments in our production. But he can make out an even better case for himself if he will get tough.

He could say there was no time in the last six months when the army and navy could ship as much material as he produced.

He could say the army in its (Turn to MALLON, Page 11)

Chance for Low IQ's

Uncle Sam Asked To Find Place for Them in War

By ADELAIDE KERR

Wide World Features Writer NEW YORK, Aug. 23—America's leading educators and psychologists have asked Uncle Sam to put his problem children—the low IQ's—to work in the country's war effort.

Lots of mental deficiencies, who tangle with their arithmetic tables, can wield a spade with speed, they say, and could be used in such jobs as harvesting wheat and cleaning streets to help win the war. Instead of possibly entering reform schools, or going on relief at a cost to the state, they might earn at least a part of their own support.

Would Affect 100,000

The country's high IQ's worked out the plan to harness and use the abilities of the low IQ's at a recent conference at Teachers College, Columbia University. Dr. Herbert L. Bumer of Teachers College, who headed the conference, has laid the plan before Paul V. McNutt, head of the Federal Security Agency.

If it goes into effect approximately 100,000 mental deficiencies, who cannot compete with normal people under ordinary circumstances, but who can be self-supporting under modified arrangements, will work in war—and later in peace—at farm work, national conservation and city upkeep.

Some would be trained in farm camps and go on to work on farms, pitching hay or harvesting fruit. Others would be centered in concentration camps (modeled after the old CCC camps) for such services as replanting, fire-fighting, care of timber lands and other natural resources. A third set would be grouped in city camps to clean and pave streets, and care for boulevards and parks. A fourth would be gathered in labor camps to do the work connected with army camps.

At least part of them would be paid wages after they were actually at work.

Would Use Old Camps

The educators suggest the use of abandoned CCC camps for all except the labor camps and estimate that they could be operated at an approximate cost of a dollar a day per man, plus the expense of supervisors trained to work with mental deficiencies. The cost of the camps would be met variously by the federal government, the Army or the wages paid farm and city workers.

The immediate plan concerns boys from 16 to 18 with an IQ of 50 or more, who have been regularly enrolled in a special class or institution for mentally handicapped persons. They would be admitted only with the consent of their parents and the approval of a physician. The plan, however, envisages taking older men in the long run.

The educators and psychologists who drew up the plan were members of the American Association on Mental Deficiency, American Psychological Council for Exceptional Children. Most of them have been working with the mentally retarded for years and are experts on the question.

"These are the problem boys in school," says Dr. Bruner, "the ones who have trouble with their lessons, but who can often do simple manual tasks with confidence. When they leave school and have to compete with normal people their real trouble begins. They meet failure after failure and in depression times are always the first to lose their jobs. They become the tramps and the traveling Okies.

Double Advantage

"A large percentage of them do not adjust well to military organization or warfare. A great part of the cost of training such men for military service is thus lost. One such man, if rendered permanently incapable of self support because of military circumstances can cost the government $30,000 during his lifetime if he lives 60 years.

"By this plan we seek a double gain—to make the mentally retarded at least partially self-supporting while they help with the war effort and at the same time check the drain which the cost of their care is making on Uncle Sam's pocketbook."

This Week

in the Sky

(Prepared especially for this page by the Hayden Planetarium of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City)

THIS WEEK there will be a total eclipse of the moon on Tuesday, August 25th, well visible in the United States except on the extreme West coast. Here is the information given in Eastern War Time. Observers in the Midwest may expect to see this lunar spectacle an hour earlier in the Mountain time belt, two hours earlier.

Moon enters penumbra (partial shadow of the earth) at 9:1 P.M.

Moon enters umbra (actual shadow of the earth) at 10:00 P.M.

Total eclipse begins at 11:00 P.M.

Middle of eclipse (totality) at 11:45 P.M.

Total Eclipse ends August 26th at 12:35 A.M.

Moon leaves umbra at 1:35 A.M.

Moon leaves penumbra at 2:34 A.M.

At ten o'clock watch for the shadow of the earth to bite into the moon. An hour later, at one minute after 11, the moon will be blotted out. It will probably still be visible as a dark, reddish object, but the brilliant direct light of the sun will be entirely cut off. This light which will make the moon visible, even though eclipsed, is earthshine, a limited amount of which will be present in the sky.

THUNDER-HEAD

Japan's Atrocities

They Think Anything for Empire's Expansion Is O. K.

By MORRIS J. HARRIS

and JAMES D. WHITE

(Former Associated Press staff men in Shanghai and Tokyo, returned from internment in the exchange of American and Japanese diplomats and newspaper men.)

Wide World Features

THE patient, plodding millions of Japan know fairly well how their army has been behaving itself during the last ten years.

Their first reaction to atrocity stories is the same as yours or mine would be. They are horrified and ashamed.

But—and it is a very big and important but—they can condone whatever their armed forces do if by any twist of reasoning they can believe it was "necessary" or "inevitable" for the interests of the Japanese Empire.

Always and forever, the Empire comes first. Japanese believe themselves descended from Amaterasu, the Sun Goddess, and that the Emperor is directly so. They are the Chosen Race. Consequently nothing that helps build the Empire or increase its prestige can be wrong, ultimately.

Nanking Started It

The Nanking holocaust in 1937, when thousands of defenseless surrendered Chinese soldiers were butchered, burned, and executed on a mass scale, and Chinese women were raped in the great orgy of modern times, shocked those Japanese who learned about it. Many frankly said so—privately.

Left to his own devices, the average Japanese is kind, considerate, simple, and intensely interested in the amusing and human things of life.

But let the interests of Empire enter in and he becomes the fanatic, ready to sacrifice anything, including his humane self-respect and his life if necessary.

Warlords Learned Lesson

Gradually the Japanese people learned about Nanking. But the process was so slow that they soon forgot as Nippon's warriors went on to other victories in China. They probably know nothing of the raping of British nurses and bayonetting of surrendered Canadian soldiers at Hongkong.

In Nanking Japan's warlords learned that the rest of the world, at least, could not by any device or trick of rationalization accept such behavior as civilized. They undoubtedly issued stern instructions, and there has been nothing else quite as frightful as Nanking.

Propaganda Mill

The Japanese pride was touched, and Japanese have their full share of national pride, sharpened by a national inferiority complex of convincing bitterness.

Japanese are determined, among other things, to prove they are just as civilized as anyone else. People all over the world accept of Nanking proof of the Chinese claim that the Japanese are barbarians. Japan's propagandists endured agonies when the "clippings" began to roll in. So the instructions went out to the army boys: "The world began again to hear about Bushido, the traditional cult of honor of the Japanese warrior."

Brutality Declines

Western writers who have studied Japan and the Japanese at great length contend that Bushido as it operated, effectively in ancient Japanese times, whence it is supposed to have descended unbroken to this day. But they assert that Bushido was dead at the beginning of modern Japan, which has sprung full-blown from the isolationist feudalism of the Tokugawa Shogunate. In practice, these writers state, Bushido exists in few places other than the minds of the military educators and the Japanese Army Press Section.

Today there are fewer atrocities than at the beginning of the Chinese-Japanese war five years ago. Those that do occur are relatively isolated instances of the fanaticism, sadism, or temporary cruelty of individuals, driven as much by fear as anything else.

Today atrocities can be traced largely to the hardboiled and specially trained toughies who make up Nippon's sulu (substitute or ersatz) Gestapo, the Imperial Japanese Gendarmarie.

This horde of military police which clamps down in conquered territory is a terror, even to the Japanese army and navy. Officers in both forces have expressed their personal fear of the gendarmarie, responsible only to the Imperial Household Ministry.

Of all Japanese, these gendarmes believe most fanatically in the rightness of their cause, their inability to commit crime as long as they further the interests of the Empire.

Then there is the peculiar trait of the Japanese which cannot accept defeat. Many Americans who have played baseball with Japanese teams have seen a defeated Nipponese nine walk off the field in tears.

To them, defeat is a contradiction. Because they are Japanese they are divine, and cannot be defeated. Usually they manage to get the game called off if it looks as if they are going to lose.

No Respect for Bravery

This may account for the occasional phenomenon of excessive cruelty to a hard-fighting enemy, for although the Army Press Section has learned to pay somewhat grudging praise to brave resistance, the troops frequently commit their worst atrocities where they have met and overcome the bravest foe.

More and more, as the impetus of Japan's military thrust dwindles because of sheer distance, her warriors are going to find themselves in a position for which they have no psychological preparation whatever. That position is a defensive one.

What occurs in the still-feudal mind of the Japanese warrior when the payoff time comes may hold hideous implications for the western races imprisoned in them.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Aug. 24, 1932.

The Marion Chamber of Commerce, through its president, Karl W. Schell, sent a protest to Gov. White in which it was contended that the recently announced policy of the state highway department to require use of hand labor in its future contracts "discriminated against manufacturers of road machinery."

The letter pointed out that several Marion concerns manufactured road equipment.

Ray Welsh of Bucyrus, representing Crawford county, won first honors in the district grange declamatory contest at the Claridon school. Second honors went to Miss Bernita Krock, representing Wyandot county.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Flake Foss of Glad street and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noble of the Kenton Pike.

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putman, the first woman to fly the Atlantic, took off from Los Angeles on the first non-stop transcontinental flight made by a woman. She was bound for Newark, N. J., and completed the flight in 19 hours and four minutes.

H. J. Rowsey of Huntington, W. Va., was visiting his daughters, Mrs. John Kelly of Oak street and Miss Carrie Rowsey of Blaine avenue.

Mrs. E. O. Hecker of Blaine avenue went to Cleveland to be a guest of her daughter Pauline who was to graduate soon from Glenview hospital training school.

One hundred and fifty members attended a fish fry and corn roast at the annual outing of Marion Lodge of Elks held at the O. C. McCurdy farm northeast of Marion.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Aug. 24, 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sly of South Vine street returned from a 10-day stay at Lakeside and other points along the lakes.

Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Buckley and daughter Dorothy, of Bellefontaine avenue returned from a 16-day fishing trip to Fenton along Lake Michigan.

Arrangements were announced for the eighty-fourth conference of the Ohio Evangelical association to be held at Calvary Evangelical church the coming week. Bishop G. Hennelmer of Cleveland was to preside.

The twenty-second annual reunion of the Monroe family was held at Garfield park. C. C. Smith of Mt. Gilead was elected president.

Mrs. W. E. Seefeldt, Mrs. D. R. Crissinger, Mrs. Edith Donaldson, Mrs. Herman Rhu, Mrs. Martin L. Dumble, Mrs. George W. King and Miss Florence Hane were hostesses at a bridge tea at the Marion County club.

Miss Elizabeth Ruehrmund, with a record of nearly a half century as a Marion school teacher, resigned.

Oscar Gest, deputy in the office of the probate judge, was taking a vacation.

Today's Heroes

Deeds of American Fighting Vets on Isles of Pacific Are Most Glorious in All History.

By DAMON RUNYON

IN THE Isles of the Pacific, on scrolls of the future, there is being written a tale that will thrill the imagination of Americans for generations to come. History is piling up chapter on chapter of the greatest story of daring-do since this nation first saw the dawn of liberty.

One hundred years—two hundred years—from now the blood of our people will be stirred by the recounting of the deeds of our fighting men in the far-flung reaches of the south seas. It may be a long time before the whole story is completely assembled, but it will be an epic narration.

It has been coming to us for months, pieced through the newspaper. Much of it broken up into brief and scattered paragraphs of which offer more material for travel novels than the lengthier relations of mighty events such as the great sea struggle between the armadas of the sky and water, or the heaving to and fro of the landlocked forces. We have all read of the heroic defenses of bits of land made sacred by the shadow of Old Glory; of the magnificent forlorn stands of small bodies of our troops against overwhelming odds, of weird journeyings, open boats over vast ocean wastes by Americans tormented out of their own ships, have read of startling forays and assaults, our men, of daring rescues, and of scores of other sensational incidents. These are just a few of the whole story.

When it is all put together, it must be a staggering document, but perhaps a posterity will realize the full impact. Long all of us alive today are dead and buried. Men, women and children of this country will be turning the pages of history and even in their twilight years, the exploits of these Americans of 1942 and the succeeding years, it will comprehend their heroism. The general that lives history never really loses its true significance, because it is really too busy quibbling over the manner of the making of the history to evaluate the result.

In all the annals of warfare no fighting to of any size has been transported as great distances against as many obstacles as our country in the Pacific. The complexity of the complete story will have to pause to give tribute to American military and naval leaders, accomplished in this feat, and thereby stand themselves among the geniuses of their kind. I think that it will be at this point that historians must reveal that the Japanese whatever chance they might have had of winning the war when they were unable to prevent this transport and had finally to confront the soldiers and sailors and marines of United States, whose one idea is to uphold glorious traditions of their native land.

SOME of them now fighting in remote war on distant beaches, and in tangled jungles were yesterday mere schoolboys. Few of them had any experience in war or knew anything more about it than they had heard from lips of their fathers who marched with Persh against the sirens of the Nazis. Today, however, like a star in high heaven against a dark background of ruthless carnage in the Pacific. However, the tide of battle may flow in the future, the valor of our men on land and sea and in the air shines as also as a symbol of surety of the ultimate defeat. It should be a beacon of hope to any who occasionally despair.

Drip!

Philadelphia has discovered one way to water for war industry. It confronted its dentists for a month with the slogan "Don't Drip!" using newspapers, radio and billboards. The result was a saving of 655,000,000 gallons of water daily.

The campaign began when war industries in the five counties of the Philadelphia area tried to take more water than the three systems supplying more than 90 per cent of the 2,500 users in the area could supply. The campaign cut water consumption by 30,000,000 gallons a day, despite a 25 per cent increase in use by war industries and an expanded program. Engineers estimated this was a saving of 65,000,000 gallons for non-essential purposes.

Air raid wardens and city employees distributed 750,000 leaflets explaining how to eliminate waste. More than 100,000 poster displays window cards were exhibited. Total campaign saved wastes from 10 to 350 gallons a householders undertook repairs and averted water crisis.

REPORTS LOSS OF RING WORTH $2,500

Marion Man Seeks Aid in Finding Valuable Keepsake.

Loss of a diamond-encrusted platinum ring valued at $2,500 and posting of a $200 reward for its return was reported today by the owner, Jerry A. Miko of 413 Mary street, special investigator for the Hunkin-Conkey construction company. Discovering the loss upon his return home last night about 8:30, Miko retraced his steps by telephone in an effort to locate the ring. He had visited an uptown restaurant before going to Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus and Sugar Grove, he reported. He reported the loss to the Marion police department immediately.

The ring is particularly valued as a keepsake, according to the owner. He presented it as a gift to his mother in 1918 and she returned it to him six months before her death in 1924.

A minor injury which he suffered a week ago is responsible for the loss, Miko explained. He had kept the ring on the small finger of his right hand, but removed it when the finger became swollen after his hand was bruised. Temporarily he carried the ring in his trousers pocket and it probably was lost when he removed change or other articles he related.

ORIGINAL AND GENUINE MOORE'S Air-tight CIRCULATING HEATER

There's no waste heat in a MOORE'S —no dead coals around the sides of MOORE'S Slotted Anti-Carbon Fire Pot, because the fire burns from the outside toward the center — burning all the coal, smoke, soot and gases transferring ALL THE HEAT into the scientifically balanced air passages and into your home.

In homes heated with a MOORE'S "Air-Tight" you will see only white vapor coming out of the chimney — because a MOORE'S gets all the heat out of the fuel. None of it is wasted up the chimney.

There are dozens of other features in this marvelous heater. Come in — we'll be glad to explain them to you.

American League Hikes Army-Navy Relief Fund Contribution to $250,000

Three Double-Headers Yesterday Net Nearly $180,000; New York Program Gives $80,000.

THE last of 16 double-headers staged yesterday in the American League's relief fund drive, netted nearly $180,000 for the fund, according to the league's financial report.

The program, in which the receipts of each regularly scheduled game in each circuit were earmarked for army-navy relief, was completed when the American League donated the contribution, part of the half million dollar mark.

A New York crowd paid an estimated $80,000 for the Yankees and the Washington Senators. In Detroit, the Tigers and the St. Louis Browns drew a gate of $62,172. And approximately $30,000 came in at Philadelphia, where the Athletics met the Boston Red Sox.

These double-headers, designated as relief games after the first five American league army-navy contests brought in more than $75,000, enabled the league circuit to surpass its quota of $250,000, although it fell short of the $270,000 produced by the National League.

Yankees Lead Shrinkers. As for the pennant race, the Yankees watched their American league lead shrink to nine full games while the Brooklyn Dodgers hiked their margin in the National league to seven and a half.

The Dodgers, who open an important four-game series with the second-place Cardinals in St. Louis tonight, turned back the New York Giants in both ends of a double bill.

The first game went ten innings before Dolph Camilli came up with the bases loaded and blasted the only ball pitched by reliever Harry Feldman for a grand slam homer to trip the Giants, 6-4. Camilli also drove in both the other runs, but Mel Ott nullified these with a two-run homer and Johnny Mize gave the Giants a short-lived lead with a four-bagger that netted two runs in the top half of the tenth.

Darkness held the second game to five frames and again it was a last ditch rally that gave the Braves the nod, 7-5.

The Pittsburgh Pirates ended a St. Louis winning streak at eight games when a home run by Elbie Fletcher downed the Cards, 5-3, but Murry Dickson pitched the Red Birds to a 5-2 verdict in the after-piece.

Claude Passeau and Lon Warneke hurled a pair of shut-outs as the Chicago Cubs blanked the Cincinnati Reds twice by identical scores of 3-0.

Braves, Phils Split

Boston and Philadelphia split, the Braves taking the first game, 3-1, and the Phils grabbing the nightcap, 2-0, on Rube Melton's four-hit pitching.

In the American league, the Senators called for three runs in the ninth inning to beat the Yanks, 7-6, but Ernie Bonham blanked Washington, 3-0, in the nightcap.

The Boston Red Sox picked up a game on the leaders by shutting out the Athletics, 2-0 and 7-0.

The St. Louis Browns pulled to within half a game of third-place Cleveland by stopping the Detroit

MARION HAWKS IN DOUBLE WIN OVER TIFFIN MUD HENS

Joe Roseberry, Bob Howison Give Top Pitching Performances.

The Marion Hawks scored a pair of victories over the Tiffin Mud Hens yesterday in Ohio State semi-pro league games at Tiffin, winning 2-1 and 13-2.

The Hawks took the first, 2-1, on the three-hit pitching of Bob Howison, who fanned nine, Gale Stout and Fritz Walters led the visitors' plate attack with three safeties in five times at bat.

Joe Roseberry limited the hapless Mud Hens to eight hits in nothing, the second, 13-2. The Hawks collected a total of 20 hits, including a double by Dileon, a triple by Owen Cressap and a double and triple by Fritz Walters.

Walters, the Hawks versatile second sacker, was by far the star of both contests. In the second tilt he made five hits in six trips to the plate to wind up with a neat .727 figure.

Friday night at Lincoln park the Hawks will switch to softball for a donkey ball game with the Lords Jewelry team. A five-inning regulation game will proceed a five-inning donkey game, club officials said yesterday.

Next Sunday, the locals will return to Ohio State league action when the Fostoria Red Flares come here for a single contest.

Johnny Rife To Defend Marion County Golf Title in 1942 Tourney Play

Johnny Rife, winner of the first three Y.M.C.A.-sponsored Marion County golf tournaments, will be seeking his fourth straight title when play begins Sept. 1 at the Marion Country club.

In 1939, the first year of the tourney, Rife captured the event staged at the Mar-O-Dei, his home course. In 1940 he defended a title over the Country club and last year he won again at the Mar-O-Dei against a bevy of the county's outstanding players.

By virtue of his two wins, Rife has permanent possession of the first Marion Star trophy. Again this year The Star will furnish the winning trophy. In order to win the trophy permanently, a golfer must win the championship three times.

Entries in the qualifying score must be on file with the tournament committee by midnight, Aug. 30. An entry fee of $2.50 must accompany each entry. The entry fee was boosted from $2 to $2.50 this year to allow more money for prizes. Of the $2.50 fee, $1.50 will be turned over to the tournament club for green fees and the remaining $1 will be for prize money.

Entries in the qualifying round, all entrants will be placed in one of several flights according to their qualifying marks. Each flight will be composed of 16 players and four prizes will be awarded to the top four performers in each flight.

Entries can be filed at either course, the Y. M. C. A. or, for the Marion County Golfers, the Marion County Golfers' Club, 1001 N. Main St., Marion, Ohio.

Qualifying scores should be filed only at the golf courses. While golfers planning to enter the tournament can play their qualifying 18-holes at either course, tourney matches will all be played over the County club course.

A county tournament for women golfers is being planned in connection with the men's championships, however arrangements are not entirely completed. Howard Henry, tournament chairman said today.

The tournament committee, in addition to Mr. Henry, includes: R. T. Lewis, Bill Schimmel, John Rife, Miss Margaret Casper, Harold Henry and Mrs. Rocky Campbell.

Elsewhere on today's sport page of The Star is a tournament entry blank.

DAYTON BOSS BACK AFTER SUSPENSION

Holmes in Uniform After Seven Days of Idleness.

MILWAUKEE BREWERS REPLACE RED BIRDS IN A. A. FLAG RACE

7-Game Win Streak Brewers on Top: Flies Loses to Colonels.

Those baffling Brewers of Milwaukee have broken their American Association stranglehold on top and are in an excellent position to increase their lead over the Red Birds.

They open a series tonight at Milwaukee, where they last placed St. Paul.

Milwaukee climbed on top for the first time in a month by winning seven games before Minneapolis, which yesterday captured back end of a double-header at Columbus, although twice to Louisville.

The Brewers, second place, a half game ahead of the Red Birds, were planted in third by the Colonels and Minneapolis in fourth and fifth, one game behind the leader.

The Colonels clipped the Red Birds 7 to 2 and 7 to 3. The Colonels kept nine hits in the opener while the Red Birds were making the same number of hits in the third inning off Bill Red Kress, with four hits in the first and second.

His pace, the Colonels' attack on Harry Brecheen, Kress, with four hits in the first and second.

Milwaukee, after beating the Red Birds 6 to 5 in the first game, the second 6 to 3. St. Paul made good use of its hits to beat Tommy Rife, Kansas City, 3 to 1, but in the nightcap, 7 to 2.

One of the best hurling seasons was turned in by Hutchings of Indianapolis, who shut out the Toledo Mud Pies 9 to 0, on three hits after he had scored the first game.

SOLDIERS IN GALION TO START TRAINING

Signal Corps School Opens at Manufacturing Plant.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 24 — Thirty-two soldiers from the Fifth Service Command signal school began their first training class for army personnel in communication equipment operation and maintenance here today.

Second Lieut. H. E. Orzechowski of the U. S. army infantry is the commanding officer. Staff Sergeant Wayne Meunier will be chief clerk of the unit. Headquarters will be maintained in the building known as Plant No. 5 of the North Electric Mfg. Co.

The building to be used for barracks and classroom was formerly occupied by the Ohio Pad Co. It has been renovated and converted for the use of the unit. The soldiers arrived in Galion Saturday to begin training, which is expected to last two months. They will be instructed in the operation of the communications equipment manufactured by the North Electric. The size of the classes will depend upon the need for instruction in these phases of communication.

EIGHT ARRESTED ON TRAFFIC CHARGES

Marion Man Fined $100 in Drunk Driving Case.

City police and state highway patrolmen made eight arrests for traffic violations over the week-end.

Harold H. Jackson, 20, of 375 Thompson street was arrested by city police Sunday afternoon on West Church street on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs when arraigned in municipal court. His driving rights were suspended for six months.

Curtis M. Lehner, 18, of Mansfield was arrested by city police Sunday night on West Center street on a charge of failure to observe a red light. He was released under $3 bond to appear in court.

Percy Mathews, 21, of Detroit, was arrested by the state highway patrol Sunday night on Route 23, south of Marion, on a charge of speeding. He was released under $15 bond which was forfeited when he failed to appear in municipal court.

Dwight Chrisman, 27, of Detroit, was arrested by the state highway patrol on Route 23, north of Marion, at 6:28 p. m. Sunday on a charge of crossing a yellow line at an intersection. He posted $15 bond, which was declared forfeited when he failed to appear in court.

Fred D. Anspach, 47, of Toledo was arrested by the state highway patrol Sunday night on Route 23, north of Marion, on a charge of crossing a yellow line. He was released under $15 bond to appear in municipal court.

Lucille Jacobs, 21, of 774 Maple avenue was arrested by city police Sunday night at the intersection of Church and South Main streets on a charge of running a stop light. She was released under $3 to appear in court.

Joseph P. Zaczek, 20, of Toledo was arrested by the state highway patrol on Route 23, south of Marion, on a charge of speeding. He posted $15 which was forfeited when he failed to appear in municipal court.

Man Arrested Here for Minnesota Officers

City police today were holding John L. Beardsworth, alias Carlyle Goff, of Delaware in connection with an embezzlement and swindle investigation under way in Rochester, Minn. Police Chief William E. Marks today was notified that Minnesota police would come here to take Beardsworth back for a hearing. He was taken into custody on West Center street Saturday night after receiving a description from the Rochester officials.

WED AT GALION

GALION, Aug. 24 — Nola Ruth Stuffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stuffer, Harding Way East, and Hiram Richard Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Long of Crestline, were married by Rev. Henry Young, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, at his home Saturday morning.

PASTOR CALLED BY MARION CHURCH

Rev. Eldred W. Johnston Voted in at Central Christian.

Rev. Eldred W. Johnston was unanimously called to the pastorate of Central Christian church by a vote of the congregation yesterday. Rev. Johnston, formerly of the Watson Church of Christ, preached his trial sermon at the morning church service. He was recommended to the congregation by the pulpit supply committee with Ollie Schneider chairman. His sermon topic yesterday was "God Is Not Asleep."

Rev. and Mrs. Johnston and small daughter will move to Marion the third week in September and Rev. Johnston will take over his duties in full Sept. 20. Until that time Cecil McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McKee of 243 Elm street, a ministerial student at Transylvania college, Lexington, Ky., will have charge of church services.

progressed. He failed by two strokes at the end of four holes, evened the matter at the eighth but finished the first round with 39 to Graham's 38.

On the second round Rife evened the score at the third but lost a stroke on the succeeding hole and then finished out the round by matching Graham's par 37. Rife shot par golf, with the exception of going one stroke over on the third hole of the third trip around to pick up two strokes when Graham finished with 40.

His last nine was the best round of the afternoon, Rife finishing with a sub-par 36 while Graham's card totaled 39. Cards of both contestants for the complete match follow:

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

"Hen Medic"

The new weekly magazine Tab has a very sensible answer to the need for doctors which the emergency has created.

It suggests the greater use of women doctors as internes, and residents in our large hospitals and as practicing physicians in civil life.

The old prejudice about women doctors is rapidly going the way of most of our prejudices—in oblivion. It wasn't very long ago that when a girl decided to study medicine the family and friends regarded it as a kind of disgrace.

These days are gone and for several reasons. In the first place, in a class of medical students the "hen medic" as she has been pretty generally known from time immemorial, now meets a far higher character of male companions than the roughnecks of a few decades ago. She is treated in all the medical classes with which I am acquainted with the respect and courtesy due her position. The medical course is now so long that the age of the students is older and about a quarter to a half the class is married, so the "hen medic" find herself in a social group that is half feminine.

The increase in women medical students of late is marked. In the senior class of the medical school where I teach there are six women out of a total class of 70. Twenty years ago one would have stood out and probably have been the butt of not too gentle jokes, but that is all over.

According to Tab's very interesting account, there are 31 women internes this year out of a total of 244 at Bellevue Hospital, New York. Bellevue pays them $18 a month, plus room, food and laundry. This is a small salary comparatively, but Bellevue can afford to pay a small salary on account of the prestige attached to it with its very large number of patients and excellent teaching staff. I know many hospitals not quite so well known or as large, but where the experience is excellent, where the woman doctor gets $50 to $75 during her interne year and $150 during the advanced year of residency.

As to the capabilities of the woman doctor, so far as my experience goes, they are up to and often beyond the average man medical student. They have selected the career because they are vitally interested in it, because it is a true call or vocation, and that, added even to average intelligence, makes for a more than average student.

During the next few years the woman medic will come into her own. The Army and Navy have made most generous offers to medical students. They are practically all of draft age, of course, but they are allowed to complete their course and also complete one year of hospital internship before they enter service (which they do with the rank of First Lieutenant). But the year or two of residency which follows the interne year is closed to them for the emergency, and here the woman doctor has the greatest chance of all time. A dozen hos-

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I WONDERED if, as Dicky often tells me, my head was getting as soft as my heart, when I this time became convinced that Carolyn's outburst was not a mere "show," but based on genuine terror and grief.

"Oh, oh," she was moaning, "nobody will believe me, and I can't get out to find—Oh, what will become of Marion and me!" I knew there was no use trying to soothe her.

"Carolyn, listen to me!" I commanded. "Mrs. Underwood, who is undergoing the torments of the damned because she does not know Marion's fate, is very anxious to see you and talk to you."

She started up, her eyes wild with terror.

"But I don't know anything about where Marion is. That's why I want—"

She bit back her words quickly, but I seized upon them.

"That's why you want to get out of here, to see some one who you think can tell you something about Marion."

"I didn't say that," she said sullenly.

"You didn't need to say it," I replied. "We all know perfectly well, Carolyn, that whether or not you have guilty knowledge of Marion's capture by the gangsters, you have a dangerous link with one of them."

"What hold he has over you we can only guess," I went on, "but whether or not you wish to be freed from him, you are going to be. I can promise you that!"

Lillian, Not Told

She whirled over on her back and for an instant her eyes stared into mine with such a look of relieved joy, like that of an animal rescued from a trap, that I could hardly believe my eyes.

Then as rapidly the sullen look returned, and I saw that more skillful "tiger trainers" than I would have to take her in hand.

But Lillian was waiting, and I essayed once more to engineer that meeting at least.

"Carolyn," I said, "when I said we all knew about your contact with this gangster, I should have made one exception. We have told Mrs. Underwood nothing about it. She simply wants to see you and talk with you about the last time you saw Marion. Won't you go to see her?"

A look of reluctance shot over her face, then she pulled herself together, evidently recognizing the inevitable.

pitfalls known to me are clamoring for residents.

The full-fledged woman doctor is especially qualified to practice gynecology, obstetrics, diseases of children, eye and ear disease, but these fields do not limit her powers. Several hospitals in the country are entirely staffed by women and all the surgery is done by them.

"Of course," she said. "Just a sec, till I freshen up." I went with her to the door of Lillian's room and unceremoniously As Lillian's arms went around her daughter's "roomie," and Carolyn began to sob against her shoulder. I beckoned Miss Whitlock to come out.

"She can't get out of those rooms except through this door?" "That's right, and the windows are all barred," she said.

"Then," I warned her in emphatic tones, "watch out for her when she comes back through this door. She is determined to get out of the house, and I am counting on you to thwart her, by force if necessary."

"But I don't want Mrs. Underwood to suspect anything of what the girl is trying to do. Any handling of her must be done quietly."

"Leave it to me," Miss Whitlock answered competently.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Aug. 25

OPPORTUNITY may be said to be knocking at the door on this day, with urgent demands that such openings, generous and expansive, be grasped and developed to their fullest scope. This may require initiative and enterprise sustained by sound ideas, well-organized plans and practical constructive technique. New and perhaps audacious ideas may incline to decisive and even dramatic and thrilling adventure in putting over important projects. Influential persons, powerful friends with capital may honestly cooperate where industry, initiative and workable plans are illuminated by flashes of intuition or imagination.

Those whose birthday it is may find a year in which luck may come knocking at the door with insistence. It should be responded to with alacrity, audacity and determination, backed up by sound and practical plans for putting over new and large-scale programs, possibly in fresh fields or with bold strokes of initiative. This enthusiasm and self-reliance, together with a measure of subtlety, intuition or imagination in such propositions, should appeal to influential persons of capital and prestige.

A child born on this day should be endowed with great initiative and enterprise, backed up by practical constructive ability as well as intuition and insight. It should be able to promote large affairs and attract influential support and much success.

Stocks of Sumatra tobacco in the United States are expected to last cigar manufacturers about three years.
